THE VISION FOR A NEW HOUSE

Everything Campus House does stems from and feeds into our mission of reaching, equipping, and mobilizing college students with the whole Gospel in their whole life for the whole world. From our vantage point in the literal center of campus, we pray to be an “outpost of the Kingdom,” reflecting the light of Jesus and engaging Purdue’s campus with His truth and grace. This is our calling, our prayer, and our motivation. This sets the trajectory for our vision of ministry.

The last few years, we’ve been exploring the feasibility of a new home for Campus House: a place that would bless future generations of Boilermakers, as well as the Purdue community and the city. Through months of prayer, discussion, and exploration, we felt that God kept bringing us back to this: building a new facility—on the same footprint—is our best option to effectively minister to students for years to come.

MAKING ROOM: A SEAT FOR EVERY STUDENT

We are out of space and consistently set up “overflow seating” for Sunday morning services. Even if 25% of our regular attendees brought a friend, we would have no place for them. A new space would allow more students to participate in our worship gatherings.

MAKING DISCIPLES: A BASE FOR EQUIPPING

The culture around us is rapidly changing, and Campus House has become an equipping base for students to know Jesus and live out the Gospel in every square inch of their lives. A new building would provide additional meeting spaces for pastoral counseling and serve as a hub of prayer and ministry as we make disciple makers.

MAKING CULTURE: A MISSIONAL OUTPOST

Being in the center of campus gives us a unique vantage point to help students navigate the cultural landscape with the Gospel. A new home would give us more permanence on an ever-changing campus as we mobilize graduates in their chosen fields to live and work from a Kingdom perspective. Additionally, we would add a second Greyhouse location in the new building to extend the culture of warmth and hospitality and expand our outreach to international students.

STREET LEVEL FLOOR PLAN

LOBBY: More tables, chairs, and floor space to encourage community and connection.

GREYHOUSE: A second location with a quick-serve menu to provide common ground and extend hospitality to the campus.

SECOND LEVEL FLOOR PLAN

BIG ROOM: 60% increase in seating capacity to help retain visiting students and broaden our reach, making space for everyone to hear the Gospel without overflow rooms and TV screens.

EVENT SPACE: Open floor space to host international outreach events and other gatherings. A portable baptistry on this floor will allow for year-round baptisms.

THIRD LEVEL FLOOR PLAN

ADA ACCESSIBILITY: The whole building will be ADA-accessible, allowing guests who need accommodations to worship alongside fellow believers.

STAFF OFFICES: 33% increase in staff work space and pastoral counseling space.

CONSTRUCTION COSTS

$6,975,000

Construction costs estimates were provided by our builder in September 2019. These costs include architectural planning and design, project sitework, construction, and interior finishes. Due to the faithful generosity of our supporters and strong stewardship of financial resources, Campus House plans to self-fund initial project design, campaign expenses, a project contingency fund, and transition and moving costs.

YOUR ROLE IN A NEW HOUSE

The Lord has blown us away with His provision: we have raised $5.3 million and only have $1.6 million remaining! The Campus House family has come together to reach this exciting point in the campaign. We need your help to finish strong, as we are only a few months away from groundbreaking!

Your story is a critical part of Campus House, and the Lord has used it to help shape the ministry into what it is today. This is why we invite you and need you to be part of this significant chapter. We want to give future generations of Boilermakers the same kinds of opportunities to encounter Christ, and we're confident the Lord will build students a new House through the generosity and prayers of His people.

Will you give to make room for more students to encounter Jesus and His Church at Purdue?
